

The Worries

Verse 1

The worries are in my head
What's the point of all these useless thoughts
Pointlessly spending time wasted for what?
But wait
Then again ...
Are we back into the useless paradigms?
Or ...are we finally done with the worrying?

Chorus

Awake - and as the day begins
It's following a path is was always going to take
It's fine
It's good
It's not anything that might have been
Not all those possible may be or maybe nots
What's the point of all that worrying?

Verse 2

It's that time to overthink again
The what might be or the what might've been
But wait ...
Then again ...
It's like paying interest on a loan
That you don't even owe

Bridge

There's no need for this anymore
The path of life will take its course
There's no need for this anymore

The path of life will take its course

Chorus 2

Awake - and as the day begins

It's following a path is was always going to take

It's fine

It's good

It's not anything that might have been

Outro/ verse 3

What's the point of all that worrying?

What's the point of all that worrying?

But wait....

Then again....

It's not anything it might have been

No more worrying ...no more worrying
